

Almost three quarters of HRM residents rate their level of access to Convenience Stores from their home with at least an 8 out of 10. Residents in Rural areas, rate their level of access to Convenience Stores significantly poorer.

Almost 80% of HRM residents rate their level of access to Grocery Stores from their home with at least an 8 out of 10. Urban & Suburban residents are significantly more satisfied with their level of access to Grocery Stores from their homes.

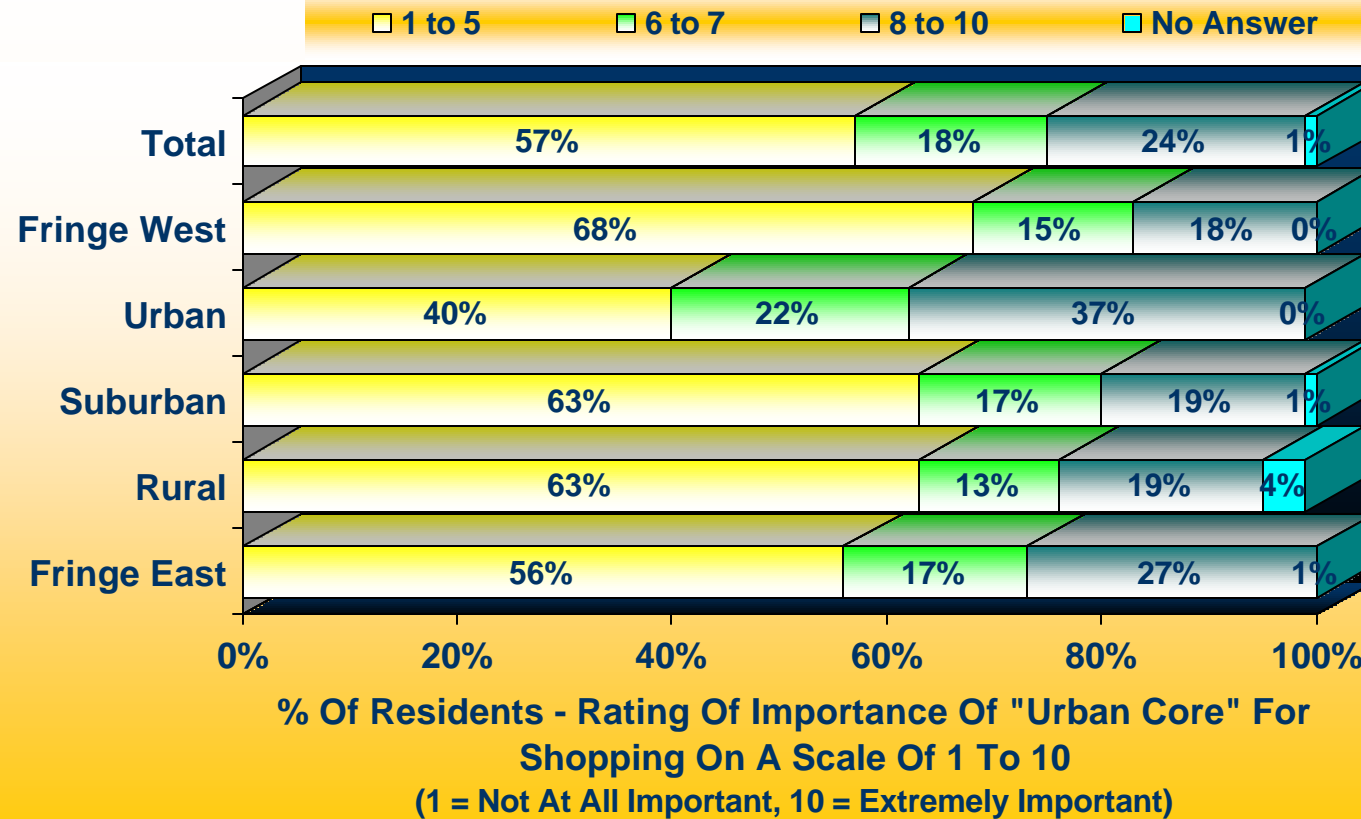

SECTION 7

SHOPPING AND URBAN CORE

QUESTION 32a

As far as "Shopping" is concerned, the "Urban Core" is not particularly important for over 50% of HRM residents. The importance of HRM's "Urban Core" for "Shopping" is greatest to Urbanites, followed by those living in Fringe East.

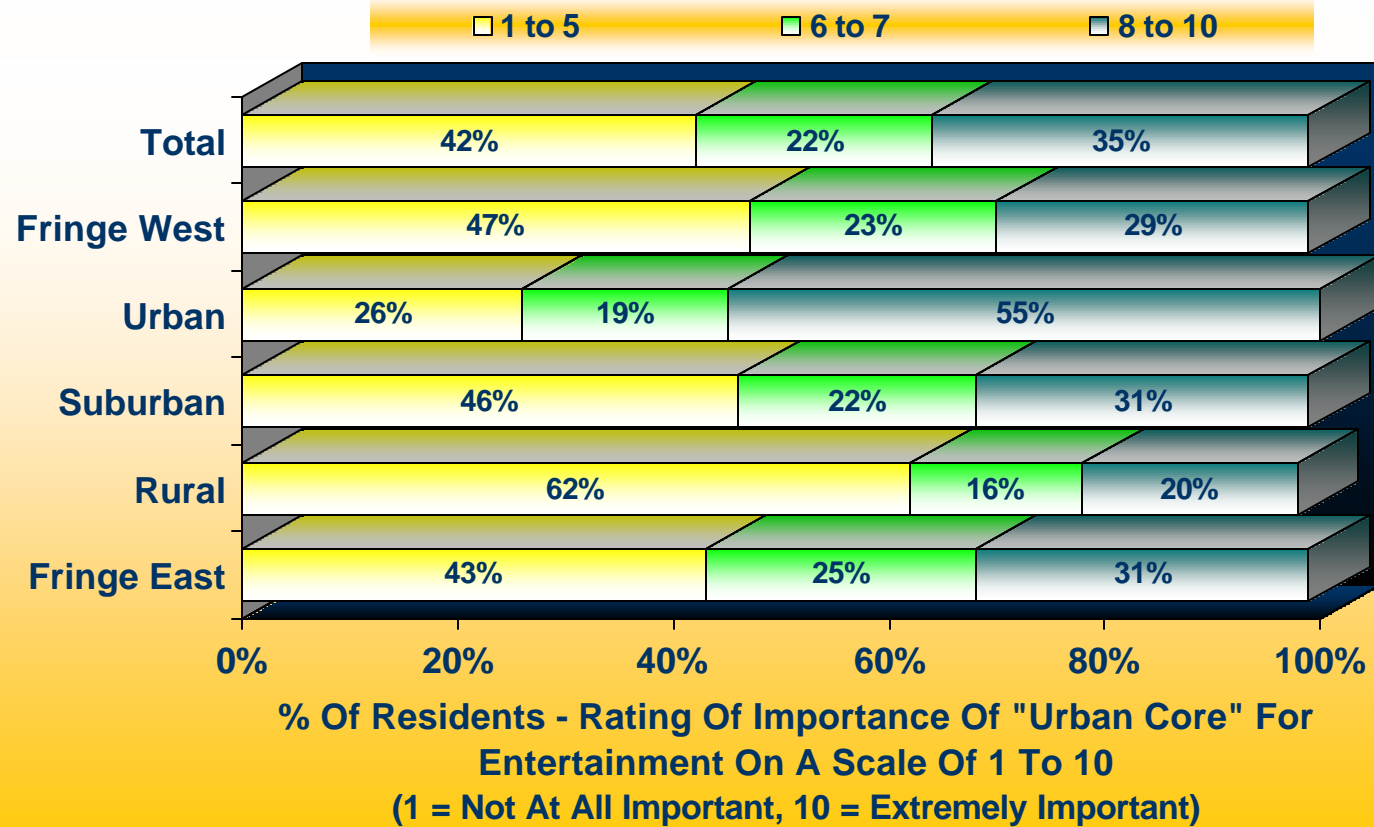

SECTION 7

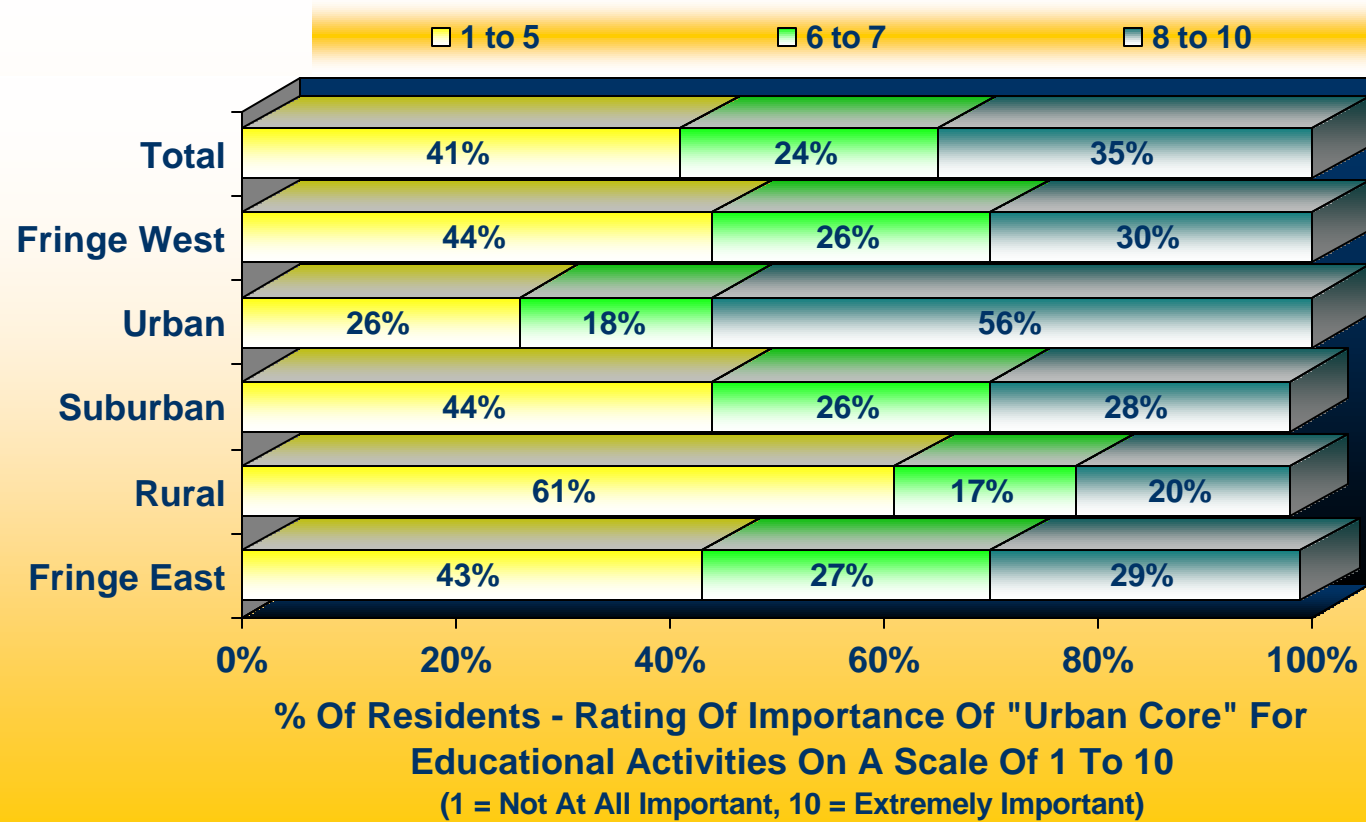

SHOPPING AND URBAN CORE

QUESTION 32b

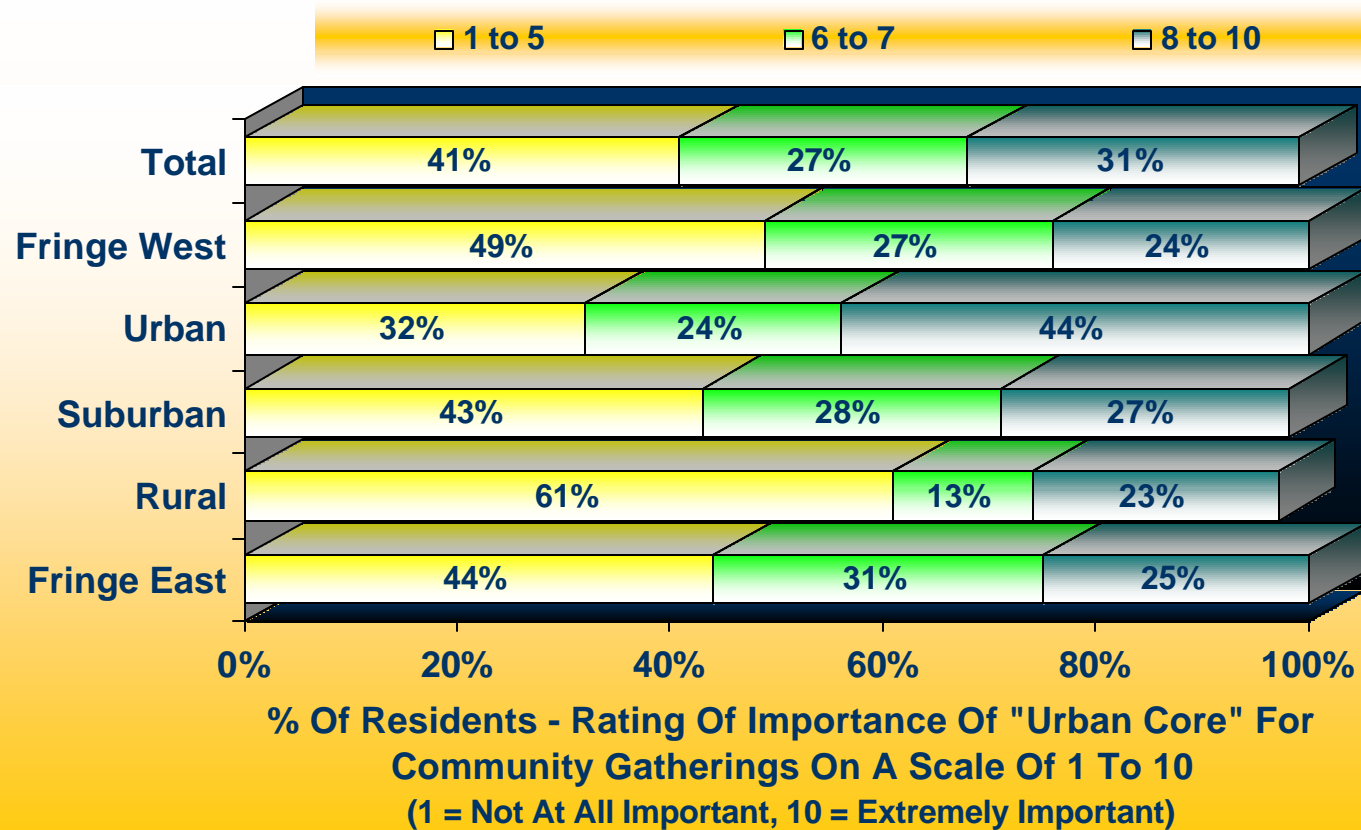

As far as "Entertainment" is concerned, the "Urban Core" is not particularly important for 42% of HRM residents. Over half of Urbanites rate the Urban Core as being at least an 8 in terms of importance for their Entertainment needs.

As far as "Educational Activities" is concerned,, the "Urban Core" is not particularly important for 41% of HRM residents. Over half of Urbanites rate the Urban Core as being at least an 8 in terms of importance for Educational Activities.

As far as "Community Gatherings" is concerned, the "Urban Core" is not particularly important for 41% of HRM residents. About half of Urbanites rate the Urban Core as being at least an 8 in terms of importance for Community Gatherings.

As far as "Food & Drink" is concerned, the "Urban Core" is not particularly important for 32% of HRM residents. Over half of Urbanites rate the Urban Core as being at least an 8 in terms of importance for Food & Drink.

