

November 8th, 1918.

and friendship of two nations, which friendship and sentiment he hoped would always continue. They are fighting side by side in war now, and a feature of that great war is the part played by Canada. It is a war to establish a peace that will extend far into the future.

He was glad to be in Halifax to see the beautiful city to experience the genial hospitality of His Honor Lieut. Gov. Grant. (long continued applause).

ADDRESS BY MAYOR.

Lieut. Governor Grant called upon the Mayor for an address.

His Worship said he heartily welcomed the distinguished guest and expressed his appreciation of all that the great State of Massachusetts had done so well for Halifax. He spoke of Governor McCall's eloquent address and said he himself was for reciprocity and thought opposition to the proposed at the time was a crime. Now the two nations are side by side, allies in the great cause, and that will have accomplished much in drawing the two nations closer together.

Lieut. Gov. Grant then invited all present desiring to meet Governor McCall to do so, and His Excellency had a half-hour of handshaking before he left the City Hall.
